We Appreciate You!

National School Choice Week is celebrated each January and shines a spotlight on the importance of empowering families to choose the educational path that best fits their children. This month, we proudly join schools across the nation in recognizing the diverse learning options available to families, including district, charter, magnet, private, and home-based education. At Incito Schools, we are deeply grateful for the trust our families place in us each day. We understand that selecting a school is one of the most meaningful decisions a family can make, and we do not take that responsibility lightly. National School Choice Week is an opportunity to celebrate partnership—between families, Educators, and Learners—and to reaffirm our commitment to providing a safe, supportive, and engaging learning environment where every Learner can grow academically, socially, and emotionally. Thank you for choosing Incito Schools and for being an essential part of our community.
