Learner-Led Conferences

Learner-Led Conferences will take place next week, March 2nd–6th, and we are truly looking forward to this powerful time of connection, reflection, and celebration with our Learners and families. At Incito, conferences are more than a progress update—they are an essential part of our partnership with families and a cornerstone of the learning journey. Our standard is 100% family participation, because we know that when school and home partner together, Learners thrive.

During these Learner-Led Conferences, each Learner takes the lead in sharing evidence of their learning, reflecting on their growth, and speaking confidently about their goals and next steps. This model builds ownership, responsibility, and pride as Learners showcase their achievements and areas for continued growth. Families will also review grades and Individualized Learning Plans (ILPs), which support in guiding meaningful conversations about progress and future goals.

If you have not yet scheduled your conference time, please reach out directly to your Learner's Educator as soon as possible so we can ensure every family is included in this important experience. We look forward to celebrating the hard work, perseverance, and accomplishments of every Learner together!

Read Across America Week is a nationwide celebration that highlights the importance of literacy and inspires a lifelong love of reading. Originally launched by the National Education Association, this special week brings schools and communities together to celebrate books and the joy they bring.

At Incito, we are excited to celebrate with our Picnic with Pages event on Wednesday, March 4th, from 9:00-10:00 a.m. Families are warmly encouraged to join us during this time to read alongside their Learners and share in the joy of stories together. Learners will enjoy reading outdoors in a relaxed, engaging environment that brings books to life and strengthens our culture of literacy.

Juice and donuts will be available for purchase for $1 each, and our Spring Book Fair will also be open during this time—be sure to swing by and explore the wonderful books available to add to your home library.

We look forward to celebrating reading together and continuing to partner with families to grow confident, enthusiastic Readers!
